CARTER'S DEPOT, Tenn., July 10, 1870.
To the Editors of the Chronicle:

Our journey thus far into the country has been so pleasant, that with your permission, we will say something to your readers of our trip and what we have seen. The train that carried us from your pleasant city was densely crowded with pleasure seekers and invalids from the Sunny South, on their way to the Virginia Springs. But notwithstanding the crowded condition of the cars, all were rendered comfortable and pleasant by the indefatigable attention of that very popular railroad conductor, Col. Young. Our company was not altogether the pleasure seeker from the South, but many East Tennesseans were with us at the outset and many others joined us as we made our way to this point. We had the pleasure of meeting with the Hon. F. S. Singletary, the worthy Representative in the present General Assembly, of the good little county of Carter, soon after he got aboard of the train. Ferd is a favorite with his people, and they feel proud of him as their Representative. A Knoxville youth was aboard our train that we felt sorry for. His sweetheart was with him, and he made every effort to entertain her, but she wouldn't entertain worth a cent. He called her attention to a piece of manuscript, saying, at the time it was the work of his own imaginative brain and the sentiment of his loving heart, and the careless creature threw it aside for some scape-grace to chuckle over when they left us, and sure enough, it was found and read when they were gone. Judge E. C. Gillenwaters joined us at Rogersville Junction. The Judge's re-election is a foregone conclusion. Col. Reeves will not near poll the strength of his party. At Greeneville, Gen. Quarles became one of us. He was escorted to the depot by ex-President Johnson, and many passengers were delighted at getting so good a peep at our former President. Captain Doak, of the Clarksville Tobacco Leaf, is making the trip through the upper counties with Gen. Quarles, and he became one of our number at the town of Greeneville. We left there about that time and went off to share the hospitalities of a Nolachucky farmer, and one that knows how to render his guests comfortable.

The Greene county farmers have just harvested a very fine wheat crop, and the gentleman we stopped with will garner over a thousand bushels of wheat. This evening we came up to this place on Capt. Henry Lyle's train, and, unlike the train of yesterday, the passengers were mostly East Tennesseans—members of the bar and candidates, on their way to Carter court. Maj. A. H. Pettibone, Judge R. McFarland, James W. Deaderick, Esq., Capt. Newton Hacker and Hon. Sam. Milligan, were among the gentlemen that were making their way to see the good people of loyal Carter.

The candidates for the various offices to be filled at our August election are moving quietly around among the voters, and electioneering in a very fair and candid manner. The election is creating very little excitement, not so much so as John Robinson's big show that is advertised to be along soon.

Capt. Hacker's election is generally conceded; Judge Gillenwaters' as we before stated, is a settled fact, and the election for Chancellor will be hardly contested, but the Republicans think victory certain.

The approaching Congressional race is already creating considerable interest; various gentlemen are urging their claims before the people, but a convention will be called to pass upon the merits of the gentlemen. The Republicans are determined to have harmony, and the gentleman who expects to create disorder in the Republican ranks will be summarily dealt with by the people. Disorganizers are not favorites.

The CHRONICLE is a favorite with the people, and when the farmers are through with the busy season, and get a breathing spell, they will look up their winter reading matter, and the CHRONICLE is their choice. Capt. Hendrix, at this place, is getting up a club and will forward soon.

'Tis midnight, but not upon the mountain's brow; but upon the banks of the limpid Watauga, where all is quiet save the chirping of the legions of frogs that inhabit its waters.

Crops are splendid and everything abundant. Apples and peaches are by the million; the people are healthy and happy, and growing wealthy—glorious East Tennessee! HENRY.

Athens.

The town of Athens assumes a very quiet appearance, it being vacation with all the schools and the students all gone home. The excitement seems to be as to who can secure houses to live in against the opening of the next session of the East Tennessee Wesleyan University, which will be on the first day of September. A large school is looked for the next college year.

The health of Athens is remarkably good for this season of the year.

Judge Van Dyke left for Nashville this evening to look after his chances for the Supreme Judgeship for the State. He seems to be hopeful.

Wheat is now being threshed in this county. The farmers rejoice in a more abundant harvest than usual. Oats are unusually fine. The growing corn crop looks promising beyond any year since the war.

Capt. John Helm (our John, not yours) planted one peck of Early Rose potatoes. The yield is equal to 175 bushels per acre. Beat this if you can. If Blount can beat us in cabbage, we think we have them on the potato question.

Schorn & McKelden, proprietors of the tannery in Athens, are now prepared to manufacture their own leather at home—having just received their machinery, with which they can make from fifty to sixty pairs of shoes per day. Send on your orders.

The reported massacre of Christians, reported to have taken place at Pekin, China, turns out to be a hoax.

Secretary Boutwell expresses entire satisfaction with the funding bill just passed.

A Favor Well and Justly Bestowed.

CLEVELAND, TENN., July 11, 1870.

Editors of the Knoxville Chronicle:
We have been made glad by the appointment of Thomas R. Willhoite, the adopted son of our esteemed fellow-citizen, W. M. Willhoite, of this place, to a cadetship at the Military Academy at West Point.

This is a favor well bestowed, and reflects much credit on Capt. A. E. Blunt, the obliging Postmaster of Cleveland, who applied to our able and faithful Representative in Congress, the Hon. Horace Maynard, for his appointment, also, much honor upon Mr. Maynard for making the same.

Permit me to state a few facts in reference to this boy, viz: At the age of four years, Major Willhoite picked him up on streets of Cleveland, a poor, ragged boy. His parents gave him to Maj. Willhoite, who adopted him. He was a wild lad, but Mr. Willhoite brought him under proper training, and, being a school-teacher by profession, soon had him in school. He evinced such aptness to learn that it very soon became apparent that he possessed unusual natural capacities. He is now 17 years old, and has been kept in school a considerable portion of his time. At his examination at the class of Prof. Cheyne's school, recently, he found himself to be master of Elementary Algebra, Geometry, and also, Plain and Solid Trigonometry. He demonstrated difficult propositions with such sense that everybody present was convinced that he is a boy of unusual capacities.

Another reason why the appointment is well made, is that Maj. Willhoite has done more for the Republican party and asked less from the same than any man in the county. He is a strong Republican, and I must think he is one from pure principle, for he has never aspired to any office whatever; hence, I say that this is a favor justly bestowed.

Bradley county is all right on the coming August election, and she will place in office only true and reliable Republicans.

Letter from Carter County.

ELIZABETHTON, TENN., July 12, 1870.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:
Circuit Court is in session and business is progressing rapidly. Many important cases will be disposed of the present term; and without litigation increases, Judge Gillenwaters' successor will have little to do at this place—should he be defeated—of that there is not the remotest danger.

There has been an unusually large number of the legal fraternity attending the present Court, and all seem in a good humor and have something to do. Candidates have been plenty, and the good people have been miserably tortured by hand-shaking and soft things whispered in their ear. Hacker and Haynes, rival candidates for the office of Attorney General, opened the canvass on Monday, by a small quantity of speaking. Hacker told the people he was Republican in politics; had served as a Federal soldier in the late struggle; politely appealed to them for their votes; and concluded by adding a few words as to qualifications and the impartial manner with which he expected and intended to discharge the duties of the office, if elected.

Haynes did not allude to politics; said his military record was a blank; that he made a fair living by his practice; did not care about the office, and wound up by saying he was not responsible. His conclusion we thought rather ambiguous. Electioneering with most of the candidates is a new game, and some of them play it awkwardly; but all are learning fast. Col. F. A. Reeves has got so he speaks to common men as though it didn't hurt; but, poor fellow! just as he gets his hand in, his own party are to behead him—for I understand there is a Democratic caucus in town tonight for the purpose of ruling Reeves off, and placing Col. A. J. Brown upon the track. We say, let him come; Judge Gillenwaters will only get a larger hide.

Judge McFarland, who was a novice in electioneering at the start, might now be considered an adept; but it has pretty well finished him, physically. He is as poor as a boarding-house chicken, his eye looks like a perch's eye out of water, and his mouth is literally worn out kissing babies. Judge Smith looks none the worse from his labors, for he knows how to talk and shake hands, and as for the kissing, he being unmarried, modestly forbids his kissing the little sweeties too much. It is thought Gen. Britton will be an independent candidate for Attorney General before the day of election.

We will quit politics and say something of Elizabethton from another point of view. There is a flourishing school here, attended by over a hundred pupils. The merchants are doing a pretty fair trade, and business is pretty good for a village off the railroad. A woollen manufacturing establishment here is doing a magnificent business, and helping the citizens, not only of this county but surrounding counties. The Company converts the farmer's wool into blankets of superior quality, tweeds, flannels, satinetts, &c., at very reasonable charges, and of as good quality as we can buy from the Eastern manufacturers.

There is not a county in the State that offers so many real inducements to the manufacturer as this county of Carter. Water power is without limit, and easy of access; coal and iron abound in inexhaustible quantities, and the soil produces equal to any portion of East Tennessee.

Yesterday evening, our town was somewhat agitated by what came near being a fatal and distressing accident. A little boy of Capt. Jerry Miller's was attacked by a vicious cow, and terribly gored; but physicians were immediately called in, and strong hopes of the little fellow's recovery are entertained. HENRY.

Severe Accident.

The Bristol News says, that on Monday, little George Keller, son of Wm. N. Keller, met with a terrible accident at one of the brick yards near that town. Some of the hands were engaged in digging out clay, and he was undermining a bank of earth, when a large piece, weighing thirty or forty pounds, came down upon him, catching his leg between a shovel and pick handle, breaking the small bone and dislocating the larger one, so as to force it through the flesh at the ankle. It is feared his leg will require amputation.

Gen. Smith, who accompanied Red Cloud home, reports him as using all his influence for preserving peace between his people and the whites.

Dr. M. Lytle's Elixir!

Diarrhea, Dysentery, Bloody Flux,

CHOLERA MORBUS, PAINFUL PURGING, SUMMER COMPLAINT, CRAMP AND COLIC.

The want of a medicine of this character has long been felt by the community, and has induced the proprietors, by over thirty years' trial in private, to introduce it for the benefit of the public as a staple family medicine. It does not act as a cathartic, but by reducing the acidity of the secreting membrane of the bowels, reduces the inflammation, hence performs a thorough cure.

The proprietors take the liberty of stating to the public, that no more perfect receipt (which is guaranteed for the cure of the above-mentioned diseases) exists in the world, being entirely vegetable and containing no sugar of lead or other noxious drug or mineral. And they would further say that the preparation has met the hearty approval of numerous physicians who have used it.

DIRECTIONS: For adults, a tablespoonful after each passage, or four times a day; to children under five a half-teaspoonful as required. To children under five a teaspoonful. To children under two or three, a half-teaspoonful, as required, and by carefully administering as directed it will never fail.

Hart's Magnolian Cough Drops

PRICE PER BOTTLE 25 CENTS.

This medicine can confidently be recommended for all diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis and Lungs.

It is invaluable as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice, Sore Throat, Influenza, Diphtheria, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Spitting of Blood. It does not profess to cure consumption, but from the largely dissolvent and balsamic character of the ingredients of which it is composed, it is clear that it will do all for this disease that any Cough Medicine can do.

This medicine contains NO OPIUM, or other ingredient of a deleterious character, and may be given with the utmost confidence and safety in every stage of the disease and to patients of every age. Dose from ten drops to a teaspoonful, according to the age of the patient, and repeated in every instance at the time and the case requires, in one, two, three or four hours.

THESE POWDERS ARE PREPARED FROM

Medicines which possess the most valuable and purifying properties, and when administered to the lungs produce the most beneficial results. As a laxative, they expel from the stomach and intestines all foreign substances. As a tonic they increase the tone and strength of the system; and as a purifier they cleanse the blood and lay the foundation for a strong and healthy circulation. They are a preventive of Lung Fever, and an excellent remedy for all the diseases to which this noble animal is subject. Their use strengthens the lungs and gives a smooth and glossy appearance to the skin, and by increasing the appetite, give vigor and strength to the whole system.

Price, 25 cents per Box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

For Lung Fever, or any symptoms of the disease, give a tablespoonful three times a day.
